

Please stop the plans of the Department of Water Resources to implement the South Delta Improvement Project and the export of any additional water out of Delta until our estuary and its fisheries are restored. There have a decade of broken promises that these public resources would be restored. Given the collapse of the Delta foodweb, now is the time to restore the estuary and our fisheries before any more water is exported out of the estuary!

The DWR's recently released Bulletin 160 clearly demonstrates that the state's water needs will be met for at least the next decade with the existing water infrastructure. There is no water crisis to justify the destruction of the Delta! The health of our Delta and fisheries is truly at stake!

The Delta's wellbeing is in big trouble. I'm urging you to put a stop to the SDIP before irreversible damage is done.
